Welcome Bienvenue

Find out why Belleville is the perfect place to stop, relax and explore!

Venez découvrir pourquoi Belleville est l'endroit idéal pour faire une halte, relaxer et explorer!

Tsyohnà:wate (Belleville) is located on the territory of the Huron-Wendat, the Anishnaabeg, and the Haudenosaunee people. The City shares the shorelines of the magnificent Bay of Quinte with Kenht̀:ke (Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory). We acknowledge our shared obligation to respect and honour the land on which we live and grow.

This past year disrupted many of our travel plans, but it also helped us explore and find the magic right here in our own backyard. This is truly a beautiful region and there's never been a better time to become a local tourist or take a break from hectic city life and discover all that Belleville has to offer.

Welcome to Belleville, our beautiful city!

Tsyohnà:wate (Belleville) est située sur le territoire des Hurons-Wendats, des Anishnabes et du peuple Haudenosaunee. Belleville partage les rivages de la magnifique baie de Quinte avec les Kenhtè:ke (le territoire mohawk de Tyendinaga). Nous reconnaissons notre obligation commune de respecter et d'honorer la terre sur laquelle nous avons vécu et grandi.

L'année qui vient de s'écouler a perturbé bon nombre de nos projets de voyage. Cependant, elle nous a aussi aidés à explorer et à savourer la magie ici même, dans notre propre cour arrière. Nous bénéficions d'une région vraiment splendide et le moment ne pourrait être mieux choisi pour faire du tourisme local, pour prendre une petite pause de notre vie urbaine trépidante et pour découvrir tout ce que Belleville peut nous offrir.

Bienvenue à Belleville, notre superbe ville!

THE SPIRITED HISTORY OF CORBYVILLE

From a humble bakery in 1850s Belleville to a global distillery empire, the name “Corby” has left a deep impression on our community – the tale of an entrepreneurial family and its lasting legacy.

F For 130 years, generations of Quinte men and women made the daily trek to the tiny village of Corbyville to take their places as whisky makers, warehouse workers, grain handlers and excise officers in the massive complex of Corby Distillery.

It all began in 1826 when 26-year old Henry Corby established a bakery in Belleville. Progressively, Henry became a grain merchant and then purchased a grist mill in what is now Corbyville. He began distilling spirits, which soon became his main product.

In 1881, the business passed to Henry Jr., who expanded the distillery and began importing Scotch whisky and wines. During the First and Second World Wars, the company dedicated itself to the war effort, producing alcohol for munitions. In the 1920s, prohibition in the U.S. proved a lucrative market for Corby's.

The 1960s to 1980s were years of steady growth and diversification through purchases of other distilleries and joint ventures, expanding its range of products to include many world-famous brands. However, in 1989, the grim news was delivered to the 220 employees that the plant was closing. After 132 years, the company shifted production from the aging plant to newer facilities.

The village of Corbyville, accustomed to the bustling activity of workers, became very quiet – awaiting a new life. The property was left abandoned for almost 25 years, until Signal Brewery began restoring the buildings to open a craft beer business, restaurant and event venue.

Victorian Splendour

Alongside national and international significance, Glanmore is also Belleville's community museum and offers fun experiences for visitors. This year, Glanmore will present events and programs that meet COVID-19 protocols, including outdoor and virtual offerings. ---

In 1789, some fifty United Empire Loyalists settled in what would later become Belleville. The most notable was Captain John Walden Meyers. Hardworking and resourceful, he built a dam on the Moira River along with a sawmill, a gristmill and a distillery. Meyers operated a trading post and a brick kiln. He is credited with building the first brick house in Upper Canada in 1794. Meyers' gristmill drew settlers from Napanee to Port Hope to have their grinding done and the community soon became known as Meyers' Creek. A visit in the spring of 1816 by Sir Francis Gore, Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada and his wife, Lady Arabella, inspired the residents to change the name of their settlement to Belleville.

Local Events

COVID-19 did not stop our community from coming together. Instead, we have adapted to keep everyone safe and engaged in different ways, bringing new and innovative ideas to the table.

2020 was a year that kept event planners on their toes. Despite all that was going on, events that our community knows and loves were transformed and reimagined. The Belleville Waterfront & Multicultural Festival pivoted into Curbside Culture, a take-out food event that still unites people through food and celebration of culture in a safe way. The Downtown District introduced AI Fresco, with parklets to provide more space for pedestrians to enjoy, an interactive art installation and outdoor entertainment. Canada Day was celebrated with a parade that passed by the hospital and long-term care homes to pay tribute to our essential workers. Santa still came to town with Santa's Drive-By Celebration; a reverse parade where the floats stay still and the cars drive past them!

We may still be in a time of uncertainty as events are slowly starting to return, but we do know that Belleville is a strong community that encourages you to solve the puzzle of the wall and find the unique optimal way to get to the top. If you love movement and want to learn climbing techniques visit the Belleville gym, simulating outdoor boulder climbing that reaches 16 feet above floor level.

THE BOILER ROOM

The Boiler Room Climbing Gym

BREAKOUT BELLEVILLE

Think outside the box. Solve puzzles and uncover the mystery at one of the region's few Escape Rooms. Breakout Belleville is designed to create social interaction. Once you've escaped, see if you can hit the mark and get in the axe throwing groove. All you need is the willingness to have a good time!

Belleville Senators

Just because entertainment seekers have not had the joy of experiencing the Belleville Senators on ice this past season doesn't mean there hasn't been hustle and bustle behind the scenes.

GO SENS GO!

Troy Mann is the talented and experienced head coach of the Belleville Senators with a track record of developing players. Revisions made to the 2020/21 hockey season have allowed the coach to impart on these young players values of leadership, character and chemistry that are vitally important to being successful on the ice. Until Belleville can attend a home game, hear the puck drop once again and fans can cheer 'Go Sens Go', the team continues to train and looks forward to offering the best night out in the Bay of Quinte when it is deemed safe to do so. Check out their schedule and purchase tickets at bellevillesens.com when game night is back.

The landscape is changing; for the first time in recent memory, the attractiveness of the big city has been replaced by the lure of small town life.

Belleville provides the perfect balance of what we love about the big city and seek from the countryside, with much to offer those looking to spend more time enjoying family and friends and less time commuting or being stuck in a small space. Stay Healthy

Belleville celebrates frontline staff and those we depend on most. This includes healthcare workers as we fight to mitigate pandemic impacts and education workers who parents have turned to for learning support.

EDUCATION

Belleville offers a wide range of public and private educational opportunities, including elementary, secondary and post-secondary institutions, which provide for lifelong learning opportunities. French immersion is available, as well as educational support programs. Located on more than 200 acres, Loyalist College offers more than 65 full-time programs, apprenticeships, and virtual learning.

HEALTHCARE

Belleville General Hospital is the largest hospital in the area and operates as the main centre for healthcare in the region. Our hospital is committed to providing exceptional care with a total of 192 beds, and offers a full range of clinics, diagnostic services, support services and outreach programs.

Food + Drink

B Belleville is located in the centre of fertile and productive agricultural land, so it's no surprise that the city has a large farmer's market and a growing cluster of independent restaurants focused on delivering the very best food and dining experiences.

A Taste of the World

Travel around the world right here in Belleville through a diverse range of food experiences. Featured here are just a few options; check out the Food & Drink directory at the back of the guide for more!

CARIBBEAN JERK SPOT

Caribbean Jerk Spot is a Jamaican restaurant offering take-out and catering in the north end of the City. It actually started as a stand at the Belleville Farmers Market, but became a brick and mortar restaurant as the demand grew for the food. Discover the flavours of Jamaica with dishes like ackee and saltfish, jerk chicken and patties.

INDIA CURRY HOUSE

India Curry House started as a vendor at the annual Belleville Waterfront & Multicultural Festival. After seeing the interest in Indian food at the festival, Jaimal and Kirann opened their restaurant in 2012 so it could be served all year. Their restaurant serves popular dishes like curries, korma, butter chicken, samosas and more.

CEDAR NIGHTS

Cedar Nights was the first halal restaurant to open in Belleville. They are family owned and operated, and specialize primarily in authentic Middle Eastern food. You won't be disappointed – come meet the family and see what all the fuss is about. We highly recommend topping your pita of choice with their pickled turnips – you will want to buy a jar to go!

CHILANGOS

Chilangos serves authentic Mexican food with fresh ingredients and plenty of gluten-free options. The recipes they use in the restaurant have all been passed down through their parents and grandparents, so eating at Chilangos is like eating a home-cooked meal – just like owners Marlem and Abraham would have enjoyed in Mexico City.

BREWED IN BELLEVILLE

The Bay of Quinte is home to Canada's largest rural craft beer and cider region. We are proud to have two amazing breweries here in Belleville, with local beer that represents the culture and history of our city.

Meyers Creek Brewing Company is the newest addition to Belleville's craft beer scene. From their heritage building on Dundas St. owners Bill, Rick and Gretta are excited to share their brewing passion with the community. Their first beer release, Back Roads Vanilla Porter, is available in LCBO's across Ontario. Now open for curbside pickup, they offer a wide variety of beer styles. We're excited to keep an eye on this space as they continue to grow!

meyerscreekbrewing.ca

S Signal Brewing Company brings new life to the iconic Corby Distillery Building, located in Corbyville just north of Highway 401. They have a diverse lineup of craft beer, a continuous rotation of live musical talent and an eclectic menu. If their 300-square-foot patio on the edge of the Moira River isn't already on your summer bucket list, be sure to add it this year.
